Location

Portsmouth is a prominent South Coast location, approximately 70 miles south-west of London, 20 miles south-east of Southampton and 30 miles west of Brighton. The site benefits from immediate access to the A27 and A3(M), providing direct connectivity to the M27, M3 and M25 motorway network.

Portsmouth is one of the UK’s leading port cities, combining a strong commercial economy with a substantial government and Ministry of Defence footprint.

Harbourgate is situated within one of Portsmouth’s most established commercial and industrial locations. It is positioned close to Portsmouth International Port, the UK’s best connected and second-busiest port, offering frequent services to mainland Europe. The area is home to a range of national and regional occupiers including BAE Systems, Screwfix, Toolstation and Royal Mail, reflecting the area’s strength as a trade, logistics and industrial hub.

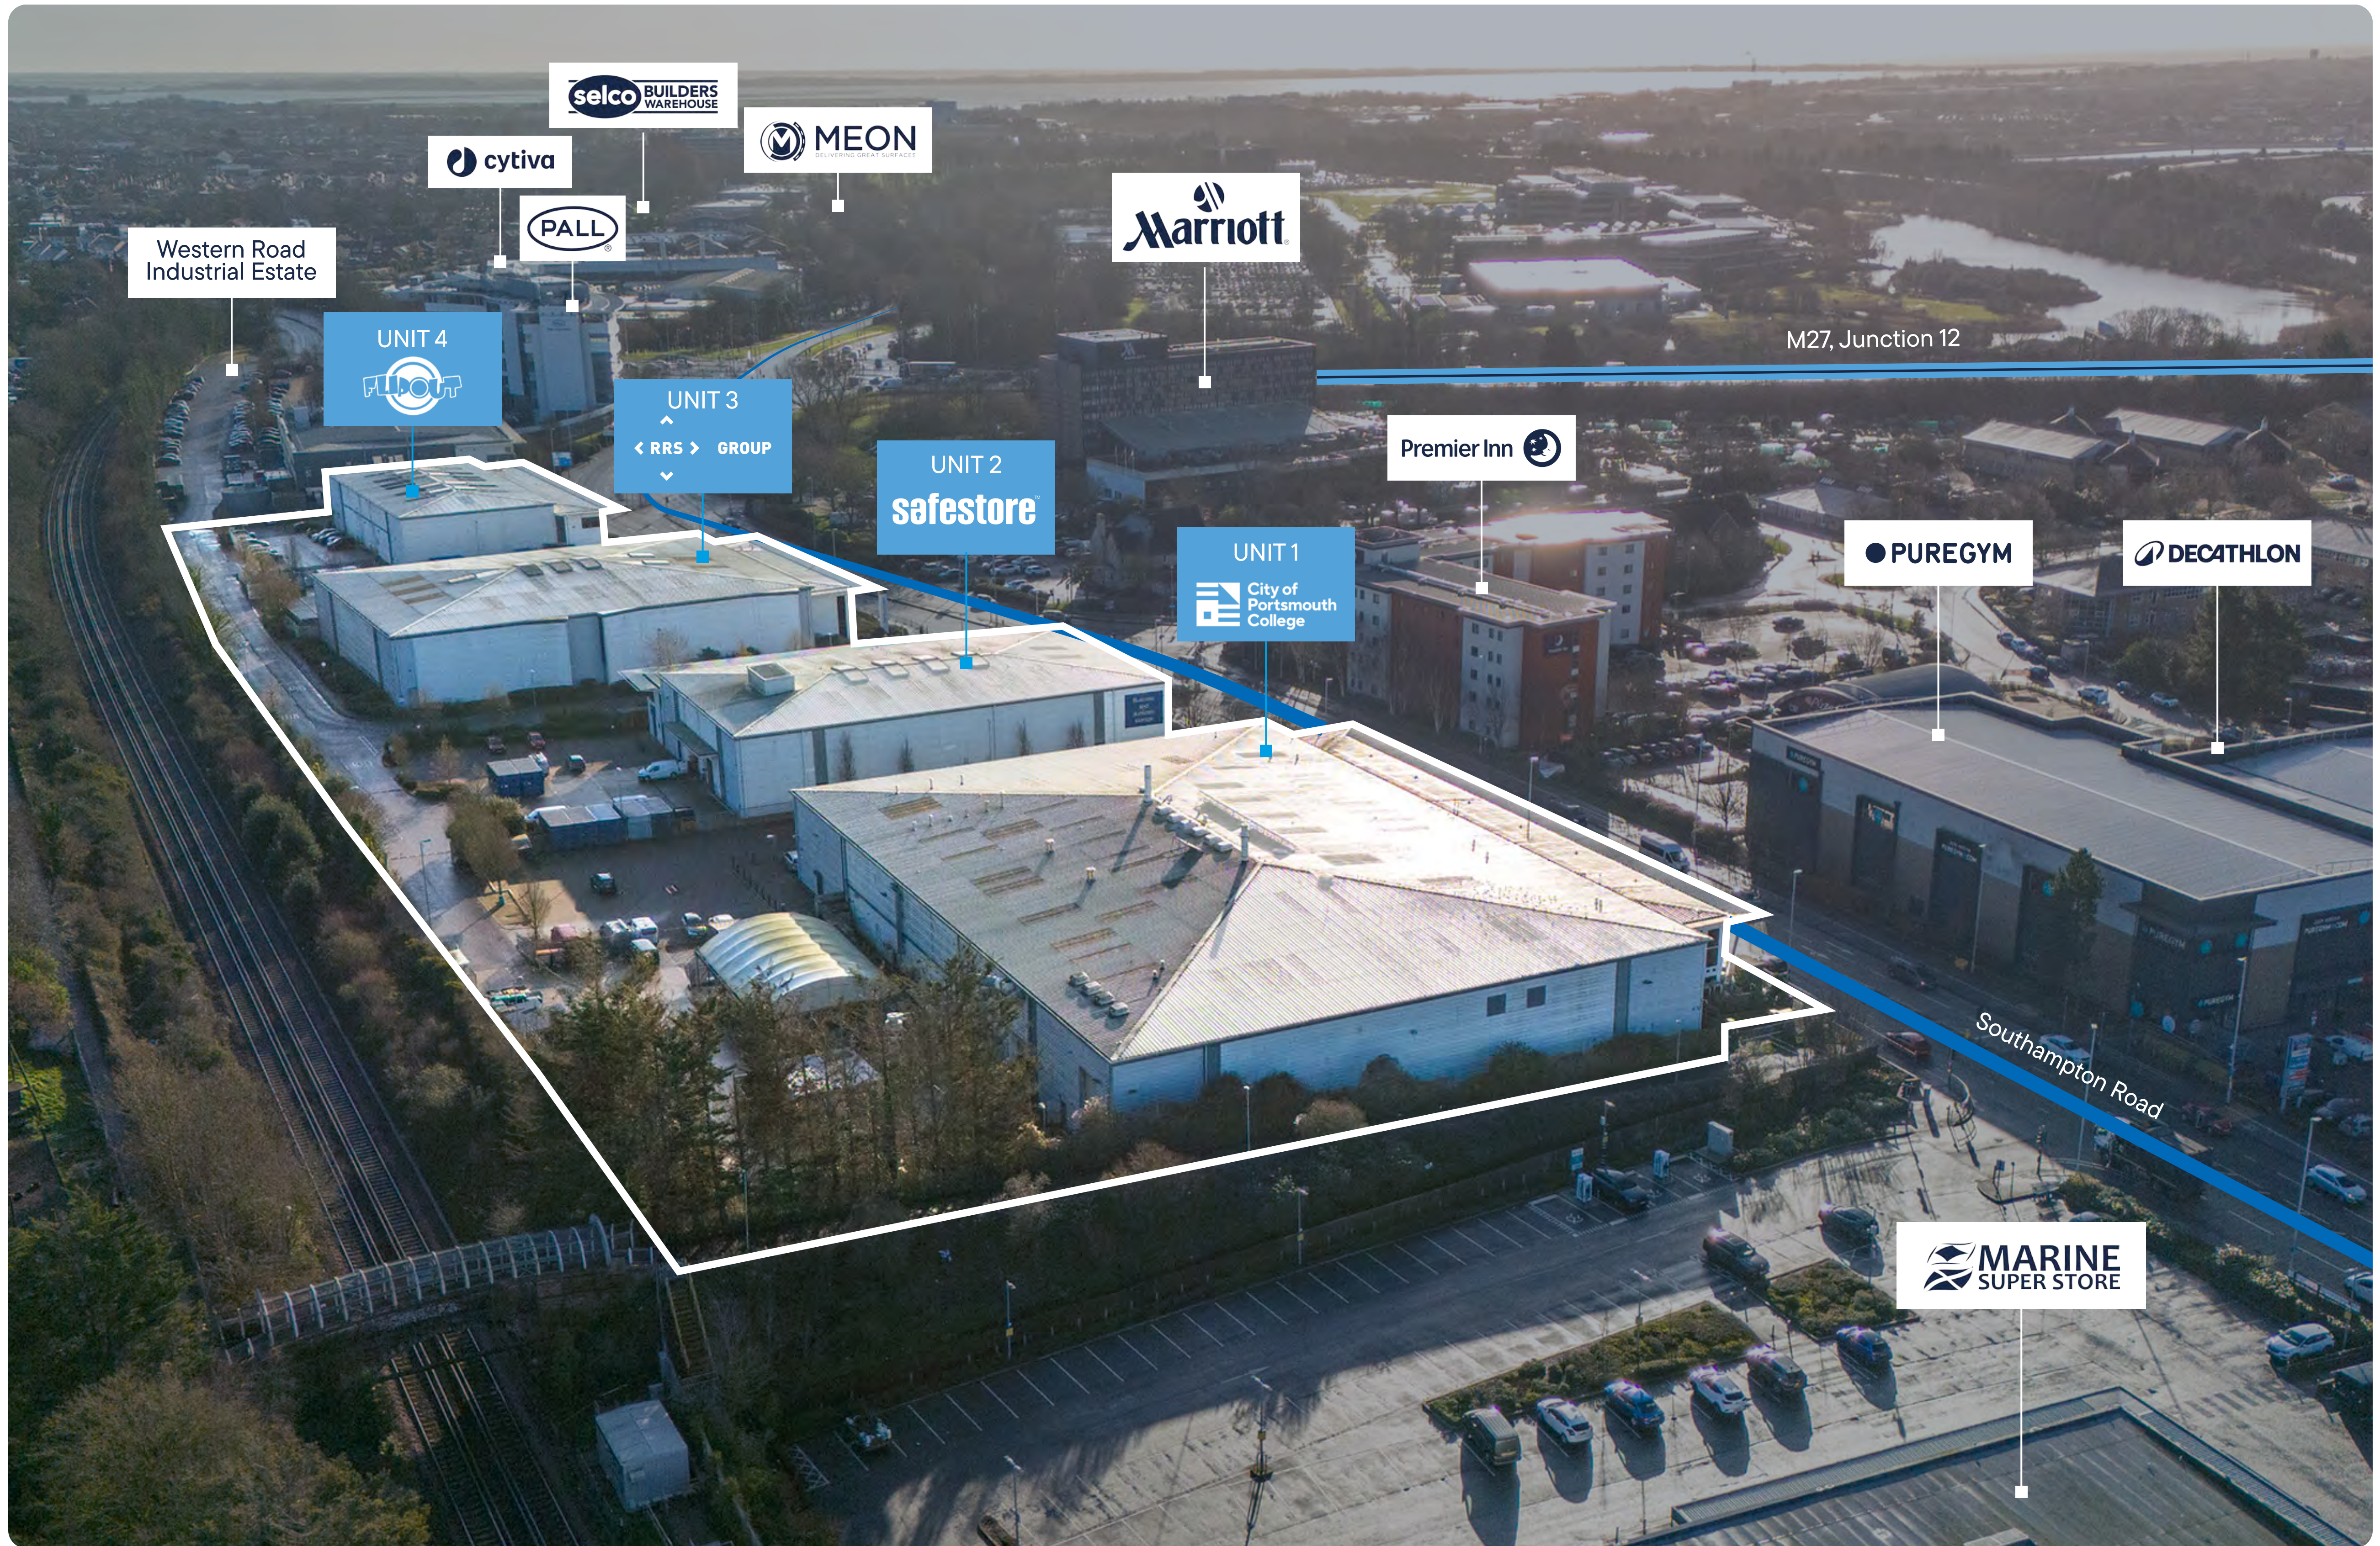

The wider Portsmouth area continues to benefit from over £2 billion in investment linked to maritime, defence and advanced manufacturing industries, anchored by HM Naval Base Portsmouth.

Portsmouth Occupier Market

The South Coast continues to attract occupiers due to its multi modal accessibility via road, sea and rail. The Port of Southampton is a key hub for UK trade, particularly for handling car imports and exports, while Portsmouth adds extra capacity for ferry and roll-on/roll-off freight. Together, these ports make the Solent a key route for international logistics and an integral part of many occupier's supply chains.

Portsmouth has a very low vacancy rate of 4.5%, well below the national average. With little new development in the pipeline, supply is expected to remain tight, meaning vacancy levels are likely to stay low as demand continues to outweigh availability.
